

Georgetown Aging Initiative

Opportunities to participate in making Georgetown a greater place for seniors!

As a follow up to the Georgetown Aging Initiative Survey, five task forces are being formed to address community needs identified by Georgetown seniors.

The Georgetown Aging Initiative is seeking individuals who would like to be part of this process by providing input on one or more of the following task forces:

Communication

Addressing the need to identify and communicate what services currently exist in the community. Facilitator: Paula Goodson, (512) 763-1400, pgoodson@wbco.net

Senior Community Engagement

Identifying, promoting and publicizing work, volunteer and recreational activity opportunities for the senior community. Facilitator: Sarah Brackmann, (512) 863-1987, brackmas@southwestern.edu

Senior Health

To be comprised of service providers and stakeholders interested in promoting health education and information on health services for all seniors especially low income. Facilitator: Mary Faith Sterk, msterk@wcchd.org

Aging in Place

Investigating the need for senior home repair/modification and communicating/connecting the resources available for those to remain independent in a safe and supportive environment. Facilitator: Vickie Orcutt, (512) 869-2500, vorcutt@familyeldercare.org

Transportation

Stakeholders and service providers will investigate current services and possible transportation solutions used elsewhere. Facilitator: Rita Handley, (512) 868-9544, gt@fiacaregivers.org

The task forces will set their own mission, agenda, and pace. For more information, contact the assigned facilitators.
